Dear Lee and Roni Amitai,

We wanted to write and let you know how very pleased we are with the experience we had with you, both when we bought our condo in Culver City several years ago, and then again when we sold it last fall to move to the valley. Our children had told us we had to sign with you to be our realtors, because you were the best. They certainly were correct! Since we were completely ignorant as to the California requirements of all the forms and inspections involved in selling a piece of property, we quickly learned to rely on your expertise. The staging of our place, even though there was some cost, was absolutely the right thing to do because we certainly got a great deal more than that amount back in the sale. And then after we sold our place, you were willing to come to the valley and advise us on the purchase of our new place. You again helped us through all the inspections and paper work concerning the purchase. It was obvious to us what an excellent, aggressive, and professional group you are when we tried to deal with several realtors representing clients trying to sell places here in the valley. We were so grateful that you simply stepped in and took control. When you saw the place we really liked, your inspection and enthusiasm with our choice was what gave us the confidence to make an offer.

But besides all the expertise you gave, representing us from both sides of the aisle, perhaps the thing we are most grateful for is the friendship we built. Thank you.

Don and Martha Janzen
