

To Whom it May Concern:

In summer 2012, we decided to list our home of almost 40 years and move to a condominium complex in Culver City. I had known Roni Amitai socially for a few years and, because of her reputation in the community as an excellent, honest, hardworking real estate broker, we listed our home with her. Roni and her daughter, Lee, worked tirelessly with us to prepare our home for sale. They both had many helpful suggestions to improve the condition of our home while keeping our budget in mind.

Meanwhile, she helped us find a condominium that exceeded our expectations in location and size and features. Roni and Lee were attentive, kind, knowledgeable and professional in every situation that arose.

Their assistance helped us to successfully sell our home at over asking price and purchase our current home at a very good price. Roni and Lee were very knowledgeable about repairmen and remodeling experts and referred us to several who remodeled our condominium to make it a much more pleasant living environment.

In addition, Roni worked tirelessly with the realtor who represented the seller of our condominium to ensure the two escrows closed within one day of each other. The result of this was that we were able to pay for the condominium in full from the proceeds of the sale of our former home.

Roni and Lee Amitai deserve our very highest recommendation.

Sincerely,
